LONDON—Behind the scenes peace moves were being made Tuesday, intended to make possible a swift ending of the nine-day-old strike of transport workers which has crippled the meat and provision distribution of this metropolis.
The strikers already had learned that special "lightning" industrial disputes machinery would be set up to deal with their case and all future claims of workers, and that work would be started on refraining the constitution of the cumbersome joint industrial council which had taken nine months to consider the submissions of the striking transport workers.

Monday at London's gigantic wholesale meat and provision markets, crack troops of the Brigade of Guards moved hundreds of tons of meat and produce which might otherwise have lain in cold storage or spoiling in the open.
As the result of their jobs, many of London's closed butcher shops were planning to reopen again and the prospect that Londoners would eat fresh meat before the week's end was increasingly bright. Meanwhile they were still "making do" with the canned bully beef and tinned meats they came to dislike during the war years.
Tuesday, 1,800 butchers said they would work no longer if troops were used to shut them. They moved their animals and left hundreds of tons of fish standing on icebergs in the streets near the market.
Even despite the fact that the strike, hopes of a settlement were brighter than at any time during

Token Exports To U.K. Allowed

By H. R. Hardy
OTTAWA.—Canada's quota of token shipments to the United Kingdom for 1947 has been fixed at 10 per cent of the value of the annual value of pre-war export trade. It has been announced by the department of trade and commerce.
The quota for 1947 will be the same as for 1946, and will be extended further during 1947.
However, the percentage quota allowed for additional products will be progressively less than 20 per cent, commencing with the lapse of time from the beginning of the year to the point where additions to the list are announced.
Official shipments of token items are scheduled to begin on Jan. 1, 1947, and during the remaining nine months of the year, the value of the quota will be approximately $1,000,000. Despite the relatively modest total value the scheme makes it possible for the United Kingdom to receive the products it needs to close to them during the year.
It means more export investment for the war-weakened Canadian brands would not be lost.

Canadians who are still hunting for shirts will not be disappointed to learn that among the long list of items approved for token shipment to the United Kingdom are Canadian-made shirts.

Officials of the Wartime Price Board say that token shipments of shirts will not amount to much, only about one hundredth of one per cent of all Canadian production.

Closed Session of Air Board Believed Probing Accidents

By Peter Inglis
WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board was called into session behind closed doors Tuesday, in theory for a general discussion of the winter's closed-shuttering of the United States aviation industry. Only 3 Percent Jobless in 1946

OTTAWA, CP.—Unemployed in Canada averaged only about three percent of those employed in 1946, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported.
During the year, the average unemployment rate was 3.1 per cent, or 174,000 out of 5,600,000. The average number of persons with jobs was 5,426,000.
Reporting on surveys taken in February, June, August and November, the bureau said the unemployment rate declined during the year, from 3.5 per cent in February to 2.8 per cent in November. However, this was due to a seasonal decline in the number of persons with jobs from summer activity and was concentrated in agriculture.

The bureau of unemployed persons looking for work also declined during the year, from 174,000 to 155,000. Major changes in employment levels were reported in the manufacturing, construction, and service industries, which declined, and in the agricultural sector, which increased.

License for CKUA

Upon the several occasions the provincial Government has applied to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation for a commercial license for radio station CKUA the applications have been refused.

Since CKUA qualified in every way for a commercial license, and since, on the basis of precedent and popular opinion, it is a simple room in this community for three commercial stations, the provincial Government has interpreted these repeated refusals as discrimination against CKUA. This is the story of the story action on the part of the CBC. With that reasonable interpretation, the Edmonton Bulletin has agreed and still agrees.

Now it is announced that applications from provinces for commercial radio licenses are to be sent to the board of governors of the CBC. In the light of that information, the provincial Government is said to be preparing still another application for CKUA.

In view of the fact that it is difficult to manage the federal Government resorting to cheap discrimination, as the CBC has done, there is no conceivable reason why the proposed new application should not be successful.

CKUA is an admirably managed station and has built its programs to a high level of usefulness and interest. It is not to be faulted in its unimpeachable fashion its fitness to contribute to the information and enlightenment of Alberta. It is not to be faulted, then, that it should be deprived of the means of revenue.

There is no conceivable reason, regulatory or other, why CKUA should not be given such a license. There is every reason why it should.

The federal cabinet, by granting this application, can do no other than to the legitimate claims of the station. In the matter of regard, but do something towards sponging off the black marks of discrimination which the province, in this and other matters, has chalked up against the CBC.

Safety is a Right

Officials at Washington announced the other day that they plan an investigation into the reasons so many United States commercial planes have been crashing at home and abroad.

Two more crashes have occurred since the spate of the inquiry, one in Virginia and the other in the China Sea; while two private planes crashed over Miami and near New York.

Interest in the investigation will not be confined to the United States. Aviation everywhere is in the throes of a crisis. The investigation and routine operation. What ever an accident in one country has meaning for airmen everywhere. Moreover, the investigation, in the light of weather conditions, are potential causes of disaster in all regions. How danger from any cause can be lessened is of world-wide concern.

It is to be supposed that public officials and aviation companies will be anxious to exchange information which comes to them because of accidents. If not, they should. The public has a right to know what has happened, and safe-guarded everywhere by lessons learned from disaster anywhere.

Canadians Also Interested

London truckmen were not thinking of Canada when they went on strike, against advice and appeal from their union leader, leaving thousands of meat to spoil on the streets. It is remembered where Britain's meat supplies are coming from, and why these are arriving, they must have acted differently—probably would.

Canadian consumers will not submit to rationing as willians have done elsewhere. If they are given the impression that meat is made available for shipment to Britain may reach those who need it.

Canadian farmers will not be any reason why they should particularly exert themselves to lose jobs if there is a chance that the bacon ration may not be in British hands. The bacon ration may not move it to consumer markets.

In ordinary circumstances no one in Canada might care greatly whether meat shipped to England was eaten by humans or by rats so long as it was paid for. But the circumstances are far from ordinary.

Whether they will speed up, and how much, under the terms of the new loan agreement, is not known. Canadian consumers are eating less pork than they are entitled to eat. Ending rationing in unsecured countries so more can be shared overseas.

Sympathy for Britain's under-fed people has played a definite part in causing high production and restriction of consumption of meat in Canada. It has only done so because there was confidence that supplies shipped to British ports would certainly reach the British people. But that confidence could react in only one way—to cut down the supplies moving to British.

It has not been reported that meat has as yet actually spoiled in the London docks. But if not, this is a no small feat. The situation will almost certainly happen if the strike spreads to other ports and to other groups involved in the distributing operation—as has been threatened.

So far as Canadians are concerned, it is the business of the transportation authorities to see whether they work or do not work. And the business of the British authorities what they do about it.

But it is the business of Canadian consumers whether they stay on rations in order that bacon can be shipped to Britain. And the business of Canadian farmers whether they raise more meat in order that they can be distributed.

All parties having a role to play in the distribution of meat in England would do well to make note of them. There will be no one to blame in Canada for raising hogs and doing without in Canada. The result is to pile up supplies not in British ports. There will be no one to blame in Canada for distributing agencies there take the position that they may or may not pass the supplies along to the consumers.

True or False?

A speaker at Montreal drew a barrage of eggs when he started to tell the audience what happy conditions he thought exist in Russia-occupied countries in Europe. The police had to be called to stop the riot.

In a democratic country there can be no approval for thus preventing a speaker stating his views, or even mis-stating facts. Neither is there any need to waste sympathy on any Soviet admirer who is foolish enough to invite such a response in Montreal. He asked for what he was pretty likely to get there.

But the primary responsibility does not rest with the speaker or the audience. The affair traces back directly to the "iron curtain" which Moscow has dropped across Europe for the purpose of preventing the rest of the world knowing what conditions exist in the Communist states.

While this policy of secrecy is maintained it is useless to suppose that pro-Soviet propaganda can get tolerant treatment from audiences even in countries where peoples are thoroughly democratic. For the reason that the speakers have no means of knowing whether the speaker is telling them the truth or merely reciting propaganda.

Elsewhere in Canada the speaker in question would have received less violent action than in Montreal. But he would have been subject to the same disability and the same suspicion. Moscow wants the world to know how it is running things it should roll up the curtain. Unhappily, it does that its spokesmen cannot be believed abroad—and they may be untrue where resentment overcomes courtesy.

Getting Worse

Palestine is becoming another name for anarchy. Neither the British, holding mandatory authority, nor the Arabs nor the Jews are now in actual control of the territory.

That peace will result from the London conference is wishful thinking, rather than promise. The Jews and Arabs will not accept the settlement which seems impossible, London had better tell the Security Council to see what it can do.

The problem now is to prevent widespread disorder and friction strife developing into open civil war. Unless the London conference produces a settlement which seems impossible, London had better tell the Security Council to see what it can do.

That would involve "losing face." But face-saving is under duress at present. It is not impossible, however, that the consequence of a full-scale war into which the seven Arab states might be drawn. And the British Government would be in a bad way. It will suffer embarrassment, Washington agreed months ago to take a hand in helping to settle the trouble, but hasn't done anything about it.

Indie's Independence

Mark down in your calendar January 26, 1947, as one of the great turning points in history. It is the day when India will celebrate her freedom. For better or for worse, India's 380 million human beings are now to rule themselves. I am convinced it will be infinitely for better.

It is too soon yet to say whether India will finally realize her independence without more turmoil. If she does, the first great liberation to liberate herself peacefully.

July 4 is a red letter day for me, not only as the United States of America, but wherever humankind is being fought by the British.

PHILLIPS, who was first at San Francisco and again in New York, that India will surely be free of her own independence. She will thus demonstrate that she is complete mistress of her own destiny.

Having done that, India will arrange her relationships with the British and the United States to her advantage of all concerned, according to willingness to reciprocate.

That is why I predict that a completely free India will develop a new relationship with the United States. The two nations of the world will be separated by much more than the two hundred miles and the two hundred years of the world, both in war and peace, would be dependent on the geographical position of India.

Mr. Attlee might also have said that, even within the Indian area, there are militant nationalist groups like the Sikhs, who are one of the most militant of the world, both in war and peace, would be dependent on the geographical position of India.

Canadian farmers will not be any reason why they should particularly exert themselves to lose jobs if there is a chance that the bacon ration may not be in British hands. The bacon ration may not move it to consumer markets.

In ordinary circumstances no one in Canada might care greatly whether meat shipped to England was eaten by humans or by rats so long as it was paid for. But the circumstances are far from ordinary.

Whether they will speed up, and how much, under the terms of the new loan agreement, is not known. Canadian consumers are eating less pork than they are entitled to eat. Ending rationing in unsecured countries so more can be shared overseas.

Sympathy for Britain's under-fed people has played a definite part in causing high production and restriction of consumption of meat in Canada. It has only done so because there was confidence that supplies shipped to British ports would certainly reach the British people. But that confidence could react in only one way—to cut down the supplies moving to British.

It has not been reported that meat has as yet actually spoiled in the London docks. But if not, this is a no small feat. The situation will almost certainly happen if the strike spreads to other ports and to other groups involved in the distributing operation—as has been threatened.

So far as Canadians are concerned, it is the business of the transportation authorities to see whether they work or do not work. And the business of the British authorities what they do about it.

But it is the business of Canadian consumers whether they stay on rations in order that bacon can be shipped to Britain. And the business of Canadian farmers whether they raise more meat in order that they can be distributed.

All parties having a role to play in the distribution of meat in England would do well to make note of them. There will be no one to blame in Canada for raising hogs and doing without in Canada. The result is to pile up supplies not in British ports. There will be no one to blame in Canada for distributing agencies there take the position that they may or may not pass the supplies along to the consumers.

Electrical Goods Production Double

OTTAWA, (CP) — Canadian electrical manufacturers "will be cautious about making price increases" despite relaxation of controls on a number of electrical goods and appliances, J. E. Kershen of Toronto told more than 300 representatives of the electric power industry at a meeting here Monday night.

President of the Canadian Electrical Manufacturers' Association, Mr. Kershen increased that if any manufacturers decide to raise prices, the increases "will be confined to those made necessary by current costs."

Electrical apparatus and appliances produced during 1946 nearly doubled the output of 1936, he said, adding that facilities were available to raise production to three times the present volume during 1947 if raw materials are readily available. He predicted the supply of all types of electrical goods would be abundant by the end of 1947.

Newark, Ohio, Bids for Quadruplets

Charles J. Henn, Jr., father of quadruplets born recently in Baltimore to his English wife, is photographed looking over a house at Newark, Ohio, which C. W. Mathews, left, Newark contractor, has offered the Henns rent-free if they will leave Baltimore and reside in the Ohio town. Mr. Mathews also said he would give the Baltimore veteran a $4,000 to $5,000 a year job.

Pro Sponsored Clubs Well Up in Standings

MONTREAL, Jan. 14 (CP) — Junior hockey gets a boost and National Hockey League teams get a break through an agreement NHL clubs have among themselves not to raid one another's sponsored amateur teams without paying cash on the spot.

Sponsored clubs are amateur squads with the pros' finance and promote with the NHL's help in developing talent for the years to come. Each NHL team sponsors two amateur clubs, one of which is a junior team.

IN THE PRE-EXISTING day before the new contract, one NHL club might find a promising youngster, develop him and then, when the NHL season is over, find him wanted by another NHL team without any cash on the spot.

SUCH A SITUATION doesn't exist under the new contract. The NHL team $500 to place on its negotiating list a player from any of the NHL-sponsored team. It costs $500 more to sign that player to any form of contract, and an additional $500 to sign him as a professional.

THE MONEY goes to the sponsoring team and usually is used to help finance the team being sponsored.

President Clarence Campbell of the NHL, explained that the pros have no direct claim on the youngsters they are sponsoring and there is nothing to prevent an amateur team or clubs in other professional leagues from signing the American Hockey Association from snatching up a player.

THIS AGREEMENT strictly at NHL, affair by which the NHL must respect the interest of the other.

IF A PLAYER moves to another team even to one sponsored by another NHL club, the professional team against raising bids good for two years, and the time the player makes his move.

THE SPONSORSHIP system is a new one, especially to junior hockey, which derives the most benefit from it. With few exceptions, the 12 teams enjoying NHL backing this season are the ones that are leading in their respective leagues and the odds are good that when the Montreal Canadiens get under way the teams which go farthest will be the ones that are leading in their NHL.

TWO SPONSORED clubs are leading their leagues at present. They are the Montreal Canadiens of the Quebec Junior Hockey Association, sponsored by the pro Canadiens, and the New York Rangers, who led the Edmonton City League which was recently re-organized and set for second in the new circuit, have Chicago Maroons, another Toronto rink, which are leading the Montreal Junior League until they meet the Brandon Bees at the weekend.

BEFORE HIGHWAY TRAFFIC BOARD: The Highway Traffic Board is dealing with public service vehicle certificates. The board is also dealing with the application of the Public Service Vehicles Act, and public hearings on applications for public service vehicle certificates.

BEFORE HIGHWAY TRAFFIC BOARD

Order Public Hearings For Freight Certificates

A mandamus order requiring the Highway Traffic Board, after April 15, 1947, to conduct public hearings of all applications for public service freight vehicle certificates, except applications for renewals of existing certificates, was issued Monday by Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor in a judgment handed down in supreme court.

The order was obtained on the application of Chris McKee and Alexander MacGregor, seeking a court declaration requiring the Highway Traffic Board to comply with the provisions of the Public Service Vehicles Act, and conduct public hearings on applications for public service freight vehicle certificates.

The Highway Traffic Board was operating under an order-in-council passed in '37, which authorized the board to issue certificates to operators for the hauling of freight to and from any point, without a public hearing by the board.

The board continued to operate under the 1937 order-in-council, despite the fact that in 1938 the Public Service Vehicles Act was amended to require it to hold public hearings in connection with its application for certificates to haul freight.

In his judgment, Mr. Justice O'Connor pointed out that public hearings of applications for public service passenger vehicle certificates have been held at intervals by the statute, but no such hearings have been held of applications for public service freight vehicle certificates; the latter certificate being issued "over the counter" contrary to sections 19 and 20 of the Public Service Vehicles Act.

He held that the portion of the order-in-council passed in 1937

Discuss "Share the Ride" Policy Taxi Service Again Studied by Council

The "share the ride" policy for taxi service, approved by Wartime Prices and Trade board as a wartime measure, was repeated in May of last year, city council was urged Monday night by Mayor Harry Ainlay during discussions of applications for further taxi cab licenses.

HE SAID that, although this policy had been abandoned by the Dominion board, the "share the ride" policy had continued, and according to reports received by Mayor Ainlay from officials of the Highway Traffic Board, was considerably abused by city taxi operators.

Mayor Ainlay said that instead of following the practice of charging patrons the meter reading for the portion of their journey, the charge was running on passengers from the starting point to the end of the trip.

He reported also that officials of the Highway Traffic Board were unanimous that some measure of control should be exercised in the number of taxi cab licenses issued by the city. They were of the opinion that if the city reverted to its by-law regulations governing taxi fares, it might be necessary to increase the number of taxis operating to 150.

THE CITY'S by-law provides for 60 cts. per mile, or fraction thereof, for the first two miles, or fraction thereof, and 10 cts. for each passenger over four. The by-law also permitted the charging of waiting time.

Ald. Sidney Bessett said he received reports of overcharging and other abuses, and added that council had a duty to the traveling public to remedy this situation. He also commented on the increased accident risk, and the lowering of the accident insurance ratio for each passenger due to this overcharging.

COUNCIL instructed the city commissioner to bring in a report on the "share the ride" policy in the light of conditions reported by Mayor Ainlay, and also to recommend whether or not the "share the ride" policy should be continued.

Consideration of applications from the Yellow Cab Company's Johnny Armstrong, A. Wood, and Ray Frenkel for taxi cab licenses was deferred pending the report of the city commissioner.

A.C. Patterson Supervisor City Council Sets Up Parks Department

Administration of Edmonton's parks, boulevards and cemeteries have been placed under a separate department under the supervision of A. C. Patterson, formerly of the city engineer's department.

THE SETTING UP of a separate department to administer the parks was recommended by the finance committee of council, but Ald. Sidney Bessett was of the opinion that it was not opportune to separate the parks from the city engineer's department.

He said that shortage of machinery and manpower had prevented the city engineer's department from carrying out improvements. Under the new set-up, not only the machinery, but also the personnel of the new department to carry on improvements without the use of the city engineer's department.

This might militate against urgent work being done by the city engineer's department, Mr. Bessett said.

HE WAS CRITICAL also of cost figures supplied by Mayor Harry Ainlay, and stated that the administration of the parks should be under the $60,000 figure quoted by the mayor.

Ald. Bessett requested that the matter be referred back to the finance committee, and recommended, together with the cost involved in the creation of the new department, that the cost be given by City Engineer A. W. Haddow. Although Mr. Haddow was the city engineer, he was not authorized to give the cost, and the matter was referred to the city engineer's department.

See Possible Milk Shortage

By Edmonton Bulletin Staff Writer

CALGARY, Jan. 14.—Through the shortage of hay baling and the consequent difficulty in transporting fodder in certain areas of Alberta, there is the possibility that a milk shortage may develop, O. S. Longman, deputy minister of agriculture, said Tuesday.

LONGMAN is in Calgary attending the 26th annual convention of the United Farmers of Alberta. Other prominent officials attending include Hon. D. B. Macdonald, minister of agriculture, and Fitzpatrick, co-operative R. H. Jones, federal minister of agriculture, representing the Dominion government at the five-day conference, and will deliver an address Thursday.

Mr. Longman said the shortage of haying was in a large measure due to the protracted strike by steelworkers last fall.

HE SAID his department had communicated with Mr. D. H. Barton, federal deputy minister of agriculture, with control of distribution of present stocks of haying and placing them on quads. Officers of the provincial department of agriculture in seeking baling supplies from wineries had had no success, said Fitzpatrick.

Districts most affected in the province include the Beaver River, Peace area, and other places where heavy snowfalls have made transportation difficult and in some cases nearly impossible.

More Than 400 Members Hear Dominion President Speak

Service To Community Main Aim Of Canadian Legion Says Leader

Future success of the Canadian Legion depends on the service it performs to the community and to Canada, Maj.-Gen. C. H. Price, C.B., DSO, DCM, VI, president of the Dominion command of the Legion, said in the address made to more than 400 members of the Montgomery Branch, No. 24, Canadian Legion, at the Memorial Hall Monday evening.

The meeting culminated a three-day visit to Edmonton and district, during which time Maj.-Gen. Price met with representatives of southern branches from Red Deer to Peace River. Percy Cowley was chairman for the meeting.

Saturday evening the Dominion president was guest at a dinner given by the provincial command, at the Macdonald hotel to which representatives of many district branches were invited.

SUNDAY THE party, consisting of J. C. H. Price, Ottawa, secretary of the Legion, Douglas Smith, secretary of public relations officer and others, went to Grande Prairie and Peace River, in what Maj.-Gen. Price termed a "never-to-be-forgotten and successful trip."

His message to them all was the same, Canadian Legion members can best serve the Legion by serving the community and the nation.

One recent success the Legion enjoyed in being able to assist with the rehabilitation plans for the building up of stocks of component parts, E. J. Umphrey, director of sales for General Motors of Canada Ltd., Ottawa, said in an interview here Tuesday.

THE 1947 MODELS of new General Motors cars for 1947 production of new cars for 1947 should be 60 per cent higher than in 1946, although this is contingent on a freedom of action and the building up of stocks of component parts, E. J. Umphrey, director of sales for General Motors of Canada Ltd., Ottawa, said in an interview here Tuesday.

Along with Harry Dickson, General Motors town manager from Regina, Mr. Umphrey is here for the official opening of the new Edmonton Motors showroom and offices on 10th street.

THE 1947 MODELS of new General Motors cars for 1947 production of new cars for 1947 should be 60 per cent higher than in 1946, although this is contingent on a freedom of action and the building up of stocks of component parts, E. J. Umphrey, director of sales for General Motors of Canada Ltd., Ottawa, said in an interview here Tuesday.

He urged Legion members, especially the young veterans who had received training in leadership, united action and possessed much of the enthusiasm, enterprise and initiative which made war service, to take part in community life.

"We feel they have a valuable contribution to make to the nation, and we are anxious to make use of it," Maj.-Gen. Price also urged that the veterans, with their war service, to take part in community life.

He praised the team work of the legion and urged members to carry it into every day life to give it its highest contribution to Canada.

"The combination of action and vision in the older members mixed with the enthusiasm and spirit of the younger can play a great role in the future political life of our country," he said.

"WE MUST never set ourselves as a group apart in the community, but must support only those things which are for the common good of all," he said.

He reviewed the history and progress of the legion, citing the actual cases where persons had been increased, and veterans aided. He urged the application of principles of unity and loyalty and devotion to King and Country upon which the legion is based.

Other speakers were Harper Brown, M.L.A., who reviewed the recent progress of the legion, and delegates to the Edmonton Freeway are W. W. Marler and C. Leblond.

The minister's salary was voted an increase, effective retroactive to Jan. 1 of this year. References were served at the end of the meeting.

Mayor, Police Chief Report Best Medical Aid Given by Police, City

Commenting on the recent death in Calgary of an elderly man, who was taken into custody by the police in the southern city, Mayor Harry Ainlay, in a statement issued Monday, said that unlike the southern city, Edmonton maintains an ambulance service for emergency cases.

THE MAYOR said that last summer the city purchased an ambulance and located it at No. 2 fire hall on 104 street. This ambulance the mayor said, was to respond to calls by the police and be accompanied by a fireman well trained in first aid work. The action was taken because in cases of a street accident the private ambulance may be on call and not available for emergency cases.

SINCE this service was started in August, the ambulance has responded to 18 calls.

"It is evident that if the police were to take all cases of intoxication to a hospital, that accommodation would not be available. On a Saturday night there are many cases which may even show evidence of violence, but when released by the turnkey, they soon are able to go on their way," the mayor said.

It is a difficult problem to deal with, and if some discretion cannot be left in the hands of the police, certainly the hospitals are not in a position to handle these cases—some of whom have been sent to the hospitals.

The Edmonton police are carrying out exercising great care and discretion, and certainly the problem will not without continued assistance by the civil administration.

"Celebrants" or other persons brought into the city police station in an unbecoming or hurtful condition, are given immediate medical attention, according to Chief Constable Reg. Jennings.

As an example, the chief told of a man brought in Saturday night in an inebriated condition, who was charged with being drunk. He was immediately taken to the hospital where he was given a medical examination. When found to be in no way medically unfit, he was returned to the station and while sobering up, he was given a medical check-over by one of the constables. Every precaution is being taken here," declared Chief Jennings.

In concluding he said that many
